

ArborGen court case - update

16 September 2015 – Further to last week's announcement in relation to the on-going ArborGen employee matter, Rubicon announced that the Plaintiffs' filings made today showed that the nine Plaintiffs were seeking damages of approximately US$43 million from ArborGen, the partner defendants and representatives. Rubicon clarified that whilst these were the damages being sought, the South Carolina lower court has yet to make any ruling on damages, or allocation thereof. Rubicon repeated that the intention is to appeal the initial court's decision to the South Carolina Court of Appeals, if the decision is adverse to ArborGen or the Company. Rubicon said it had been advised that such an appeal can take up to two years to be determined.
